For two seasons now, Olney Theatre has produced plays we first saw on our London Tour – including two American Premieres!

Join us this fall.

You might help shape an upcoming season!

5 Exceptional Shows

With Olney Theatre Artistic Director Jason Loewith to curate the experience and the team at Insider Cultural Tours to make the arrangements, we'll get the best seats available to the top shows in London. We look for new plays that take an artistic risk and speak to a diverse audience. Since most U.K. companies don't announce far in advance, we finalize our roster of 4 included shows and 1 optional about 90-70 days before departure. Besides the West End, we will focus on booking shows at the following theaters: Almeida, Bush, Donmar, Finborough, Hampstead, Menier Chocolate Factory, National Theatre, Royal Court, Soho, and Tricycle. A sampling of shows for past Olney tours include: A Very Very Very Dark Matter; Every Brilliant Thing; Company; Follies (with Patti LuPone); King Lear (starring Sir Ian McKellen); Labour of Love; Stories; Oil; The Lie; Wings; Wise Children; and Young Marx.

4 Discussions with Arts Professionals

Our intimate discussions with London arts professionals make this tour truly unique. You'll rub shoulders with working actors, directors, artistic directors, critics, and playwrights. They'll provide you with invaluable context and knowledge about the British culture, and the inside scoop on the latest U.K. theatre trends. We aim to enlist guest speakers who will be collaborating with the Olney in the future and this is your chance to be there from the beginning of these partnerships. For instance, James Graham and Ella Hickson each joined us for a private discussion before Olney produced their plays Labour of Love and Oil. A partial list of other participants include: Michael Billington (Guardian critic), Jonny Donahoe (Every Brilliant Thing), Christopher Hampton (Les Liaisons Dangereuses, Sunset Boulevard), Emily McLaughlin (National Theatre, Head of New Work Department), Emma Rice (Artistic Director of Shakespeare's Globe and Kneehigh), and Juliet Stevenson (Olivier Award for Death and the Maiden, BAFTA nomination for Truly, Madly, Deeply, Mary Stuart) We expect to finalize the discussion series 60-30 days before departure.

Private Post-Performance Discussions

We'll have a lively post-performance discussion at the Waldorf Hilton for every show we see.

Exhibitions

The exhibition or tour will also be finalized about 90 days before departure. Whenever possible, we book a private tour with an expert or docent.

Private Coach

For shows, exhibitions, group dinners, etc., which are not within reasonable walking distance of the hotels, we will provide a private coach for the group.

Meals

This tour includes a daily full English breakfast and a Welcome and Farewell Dinner. All meals will be finalized 60-50 days before departure. We will also offer two optional dinners. Restaurants on past tours have included Brumus at the Haymarket Hotel, House at the National Theatre, Homage at the Waldorf Hilton, Eneko at One Aldwych, Sarastro and The Laughing Gravy.

Gratuities

We will generously tip all service staff on your behalf.
